

German Forces Retreating in the Baltic Provinces and the Shavli District

RUSSIANS TURN TABLES ON TEUTONIC ALLIES.

Arrival of Reinforcements Enable Slavs to Resume the Offensive.

Apparent Change has Taken Place in the Situation in Galicia and Czar's Leaders are Confident of Being Able to Hold Lemberg, Although They are Falling Back Between Pruth and Dniester Rivers.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
LONDON, June 10.—Russian reinforcements have advanced in the Baltic provinces and in Galicia and it has become their turn to attack.

According to the German official report received tonight, part of the German force on the Dvina River in the Baltic provinces, threatened by an encircling movement, were obliged to withdraw, although in the region of Shavli and on the Niemen they claim to be making progress, despite a stubborn Russian resistance.

More important in the belief of military observers here, however, is the apparent change that is taking place in the Galician battle. Here again, according to the German account, the Russians are advancing to the south and southeast of Lemberg, and also are attacking Gen. Linington's force, which crossed the Dniester near Zolotarev.

NEW LINES OF DEFENSE.
In Eastern Galicia and Bukovina, however, the Russians are falling back between the Pruth and Dniester rivers with the intention, it is believed, of making the Dniester their line of defense from the Rumanian frontier to the southeast of Przemysl. They have very strong positions along this line, and military experts say that if they can drive back the Germans who crossed the river near Zolotarev, Lemberg will remain in their hands and they will be in a position to deliver a vigorous defense at any rate as soon as the Austrians and Germans begin to withdraw troops for their western and southern campaigns.

It is possible that this withdrawal commenced some days ago, for Dutch correspondents report the presence of large numbers of troops in Belgium and the commencement of a battle to the south of Ypres. The official reports, however, make no mention of such a battle.

FRENCH ON OFFENSIVE.
Along most of the French front the fighting is of a character similar to that which has been in progress for many months. The French generally are said to be on the offensive, but as to results the claims of Berlin and Paris are completely at variance.

Heavy fighting continues on the Italian front, particularly along the Piave River, where the Italians claim to have taken Montebelluna, an important town near the coast.

BAD BUNGLE IN THE WAR IS CHARGED IN FRANCE.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
PARIS, June 10.—The conduct of the war came under discussion in the Chamber of Deputies today on a bill proposed by M. Pailles, respecting the proper assignment of men at the front or in the services supplying the army.

Deputy Duraufour affirmed that France possessed manufacturing, a corps of engineers and workmen of the first quality, adding:

"No adversary could resist if we knew how to utilize these resources. Germany before the war had 75,000 workmen at Eisen; upon the decree of mobilization the number was raised to 150,000."

What happened in France was that the workmen were taken out of the factories by the mobilization and sent to the front, and their places inadequately supplied by women and those who could not be mobilized. This was because the government was absorbed by the problem of strength at the front.

NINE MORE SHIPS SUNK BY GERMAN SUBMARINES.

(BY ATLANTIC CABLE AND A. P.)
LONDON, June 10.—Two British torpedo boats were torpedoed this morning off the east coast of England by a German submarine. The boats are the No. 19 and the No. 12. Both of them went to the bottom. The survivors, forty-one in number, have been brought ashore. The attack took place at a very early hour. This information was given out by the admiralty today. The torpedo boats each had a complement of thirty-five men.

The Grimsby trawler Cardiff was sunk by a German submarine yesterday afternoon in the North Sea. Her crew was saved by another trawler and landed in Grimsby.

The British steamer Erna Boldt was also torpedoed and sunk off Harwich by a German submarine. The members of the crew were saved. The Erna Boldt was formerly a German steamer. She was captured by the British and put into service by them. She was of 1,045 net tons and 140 speed and was built in 1904.

A news dispatch received here from Rome says the crew of the British trawler Quil Vire and Edward, which have been sunk by German submarines, were rescued by a Dutch steamer and brought into Mass Loo.

SCORES SYSTEM OF PROMOTION.

NAVY MEN SHOULD RUN NAVY, SAYS ADMIRAL WINSLOW.

Commandant of Newport Yard Declares Men Able to Stand Entirely on Their Own Education is Neglected. Plan to Increase Fleet is Adopted.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
NEW YORK, June 10.—Rear-Admiral Cameron McRae Winslow, commandant of the Newport Navy Yard, addressing a gathering of prominent men at a luncheon of the Navy League, asserted today that the promotion system of the navy was ruinous, that men able to stand entire experience were badly neglected, and that the sea limit was wrong.

"In the region of Souain and the north of Hurlus we took possession of several enemy trenches. The attack was frustrated at the very start. To the west of Souain, in the neighborhood of the sugar refinery, the French obtained minor advantages. An attack made by the enemy against our positions to the north of Neuville broke down."

"In the western part of the front of La Frette a section of our outer trenches remained in the hands of the enemy."

"In the eastern theater: To the southeast of Shavli the Russians offered strong resistance yesterday to our advance. Minor progress was made. The booty taken by us in the last two days in this district amounts to 2,500 prisoners and two machine guns."

"The enemy brought forward reinforcements from a northerly direction in opposition to our encircling movement on the east of Dvina. On account of this menace our wing was withdrawn toward the line of Belasgola-Zoginje without being interfered with by the enemy."

"South of the Niemen River we took 2,000 Russian prisoners, while in the east of the Dvina we captured two machine guns and many field kitchens and cars."

"In the southeastern theater: The situation to the east of Przemysl remains unchanged."

Fresh Russian forces advanced from the rear of the Russian army at Rohatyn to the south and the southeast of Lemberg, respectively. Their front line was in the hands of the army under Gen. Linington on the line of Litvina, northeast of Brochac and Zolotarev, in the Dniester section. The Russian advance toward the Kalednia battles and pursuit continue."

GIRL ATTEMPTS LIFE IN PARK.

A girl who gave the name of Caroline Carmen, 21 years of age, No. 330 West Third street, took a quantity of poison early this morning while seated in Westlake Park with her roommate who refused to give her name when both were taken to the Receiving Hospital. Miss Carmen may die.

From the tale the girl refused to tell her identity unwound to the police, the two of them went over to the park from their room about midnight. They wanted to talk over their troubles in the open.

After they had been seated there for some time, Miss Carmen suddenly turned her back and took the poison. When it began to take effect she screamed and writhed about on the ground. Her roommate went to the Westlake Hospital where the police ambulance was called.

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 10.—That the Carranza revolutionary government in Mexico has on deposit in Vera Cruz $200,000,000 in Mexican gold and silver bars to be used to finance the Carranza currency was the statement made by Claudio J. Velarde of Sinaloa, Mex., upon his arrival here today. The Mexican visitor and Benora Velarde were passengers on the City of Paris. Velarde is the general manager of all the Mexican government tenders and is also the owner of the mine that has been supplying gold for the Carranza revolutionary government. ## MORE BULLETS, CRY OF NICOLL.

Allies Must Get Them Quick to Avert Disaster.

Sir William Says Germans Excel in Munitions.

Declares Lloyd George will Quit if Hampered.

LONDON, June 10.—"Where Germany once had a marked superiority in men, she now has a superiority in munitions. An advantage she will press to its fullest. The only way for the allies to avert disaster is to equip themselves, and to do this Great Britain must stand behind David Lloyd George as Minister of Munitions as one man. Moreover, if he is not given a free hand, he may resign."

FIVE DANCES ARE SELECTED.

MASTERS SAY SMOOTH ONE-STEP AND BALBOA WILD LEAD THEM AIL.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 10.—The smooth one-step, the Balboa, the Venus waltz, the 1915 tango, the slow fox trot, and, as secondary dances, the American gavotte, the advanced one-step, the Russian tango, and the Lorne reel, are the very latest in dancing circles. At least so they are to be, if the instruction and teaching of the International Dancing Masters' Association counts for anything in the realm of terpsichorean.

Here today sixty-five strong, and from a long list of prospects, chose the above-named dances for instruction. All promising that from Montreal to New Orleans and from New York to San Francisco, every effort will be bent towards introducing and popularizing the new quintette.

RAG A BACK NUMBER.
Predictions were rife today that the Balboa forward four times, the Venus waltz, the 1915 tango, the slow fox trot, and, as secondary dances, the American gavotte, the advanced one-step, the Russian tango, and the Lorne reel, are the very latest in dancing circles. At least so they are to be, if the instruction and teaching of the International Dancing Masters' Association counts for anything in the realm of terpsichorean.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE)
BUTTE (Mont.) June 11.—Police and fire officials were investigating here today the cause of an explosion which wrecked the plant of the Butte Socialist, a weekly newspaper, early this morning. The use of dynamite was indicated in that a patrolman who reached the scene a few minutes later declared that he smelled the fumes of giant powder. From the debris it was judged that the explosion occurred in the rear where a gallery was torn loose, smashing the machinery. The force of the explosion was great enough to blow the front of the structure into the street and to damage the upper part of the two-story structure which was used as a rooming house. A brief panic ensued among the occupants, but none was hurt.

Declares Will of the Nation is Admirably Voiced.
(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.)
CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, June 10.—The consensus of editorial opinion on the President's second note to Germany seems to incline to the belief that it is much weaker than the original. Some opinions of leading papers follow:
NEW YORK TRIBUNE: Judged in connection with the events of the last few days and measured by the anticipations of a new birth of firmness and vigor at Washington, which they excited, the new note to Germany will prove a disappointment. Judged even apart from these events and expectations and comparing it on its intrinsic merits with the previous note, it must appear weak and inconclusive. We cannot feel that it expresses the necessary earnestness and incisiveness of the attitude of the great mass of Americans toward the outrages committed on the high seas by German submarine commanders—outrages which culminated in the Lusitania massacre.
BALTIMORE AMERICAN: If the people of the United States were insistent upon the issues between the United States and Germany being set forth in vigorous language and with direct insistence upon the satisfaction asked being given, they will be disappointed in the note that the President has sent to Germany. The note has little of aggression, it is mildly reproving and expostulatory to a degree.
PITTSBURGH GAZETTE—TIMES:
The President mentions no alternative in his note to Germany and issues no ultimatum there is war in the document only if Germany chooses to fight it.
BUFFALO COURIER: The much needed advertisement note of President Wilson to the German government puts Emperor William and former Secretary Bryan in the same hole. If there is anything surprising in this note it is Mr. Bryan's refusal to sign it after he had signed the note of June 7.

President has admirably voiced the nation's will.
NEW YORK SUN: No magnifying lens at hand is powerful enough to enable the to discover in the text of our government's third note to Germany on her unlawful submarine practices—the note which Secretary Bryan resigned rather than sign—one verb of menace, one noun of bluster, one adjective of provocation. Let us dismiss Mr. Wilson J. Bryan to the preposterous fate for which his congenial qualities predestine him and which the mere-less pages of history have until now kept open for his coming. Turning to the more important aspects of the correspondence with Germany it will be observed that President Wilson can his loyal counselors have made the only logical reply possible to the note addressed to our government by the German Minister for Foreign Affairs.
PHILADELPHIA INQUIRER: Not one word is spoken in anger in the note of the President of the United States to the German government.
From beginning to end it is soothing.
Great care very evidently has been taken to avoid giving offense. In this respect it goes to extremes. There are those who will consider it weak.
NEW YORK WORLD: President Wilson's reply to the German note could hardly have been more moderate and restrained without surrendering the American contention in this controversy. In the main the note is a reiteration of the principles of international law and the code of humanity which the President defined and upheld in the note of May 13.
What is added to the original statement of the American note is in the way of elaboration and amplification of principles hitherto unquestioned
among civilized nations.
ATLANTA (Ga.) JOURNAL: The President stands for peace, but he stands also and primarily for justice and humanity.
PITTSBURGH DISPATCH: The reply to Germany is conceived in the same spirit of service to humanity and couched in the same tone of patience and firmness that marked the President's note last month. It is announcement to expectation, following Mr.
Bryan's action, it strikes no new note.
CINCINNATI COMMERCIAL TRIB-UNE: Brushing aside the technical quibbles of the German responses to his first note on the Lusitania incident, Woodrow Wilson in his second warning to the Berlin government, calmly, courteously and firmly reter-ates the international principles of

NEW YORK, June 10.—High grade or lake copper, sold at 20 1-3 cents per pound in the local market today.
A record price since 1907, when for a brief period it sold at 25 1-3 cents.
Lead also advanced to 6 1-3 cents,
its best price, according to report in about 10 years. In the Boston market lead was quoted at seven cents.
The advance in metals results chiefly from the enormous demand by the European countries now at war, especially England and Russia.

ferring to the resignation of Wil-

State the newspapers of Santiago express regret. They call attention to Mr. Bryan as a statesman who advanced the idea of a union between the American nations.

TREND OF THE FINANCIAL NEWS.
CHIEF EVENTS OF YESTERDAY.
(At Home.) If there were any fears in financial minds as to the outcome of recent political occurrences in this country as affecting our foreign relations, they were dispelled entirely, as the whole financial and industrial list made advances up to 6 points. Copper touched 20 1/2 cents, the highest price for eight years, while lead sold at 7 cents, the best in the past thirty years. The Pacific Mail showed net earnings for the past twelve months of over $1,000,000, a big increase compared with the previous year. Steel tonnage increased 102,000 tons for May.

(Abroad.) Premier Asquith announces he will shortly ask for a further war credit of $500,000,000—($3,500,000,000).
(For details, see financial pages.)

The night watchman of the country town has a grievance. He barely becomes acquainted with a crop of nice young men who miss the last car and seek the village inn, when these young men suddenly disappear from the streets and the saddened night watchman is confronted by young strangers. A year later he meets some of his old friends, but alas, it is broad daylight and they are pushing perambulators.

KEEPING STEP.

The Yosemite stage has passed, having given way at last to the automobile. As long as the redwoods do not give place to eucalyptus and the alligator pear we don't care what changes are made in the management of the big park.

WILSON AND BRYAN.
The President's rejoinder to Germany is not in the nature of an ultimatum, but is a reiteration of the postulates and deductions made in his original note. It is argumentative, rather than aggressive, persuasive rather than warlike, friendly rather than hostile. "I meant what I said before," is in effect all that he says to Germany now. We see that the eastern press is disposed to criticize the document as lacking in vigor; but as we look at it now we cannot assent to this criticism. The note, while it might have been more specific, is firm, unyielding, but not provocative. It leaves the arbitration door open. It dissipates the war cloud.

President Wilson has not asked Germany to relinquish submarine destruction of unarmed and unresisting British ships of commerce. All that he has demanded is that the law of nations shall hereafter be respected, and that the lives of noncombatant Americans on board of ships shall not be needlessly and cruelly taken, as was done when the Lusitania was sunk.

It was a wanton and wicked deed, and totally unnecessary. It was perfectly feasible for the German submarine commander to have signaled the commander of the Lusitania to stop his vessel where she was, unload his passengers and crew into the ship's boats and make for the shore, which was but fifteen miles distant. If these commands had been given and the Lusitania had disobeyed them and endeavored to escape by superior speed, the submarine could have torpedoed her before she could have steamed out of range.

The destruction of the Lusitania and her human freight in the way it was effected, was a violation of the laws of war, the law of nations and the law of humanity. If the German government had been wise it would have been swift to disavow the act, reprehend its perpetrator and prohibit any repetition of it. It would have done this without waiting for an application from the United States. Or, when application was made, it would not have endeavored to justify the cowardly, shameful assassination of women and children and noncombatants by quibbles and technicalities.

President Wilson would have been less than loyal to his country and less than mindful of the duty of his high office if he had failed to say to Germany what he said substantially: There is no use to which the Lusitania was put or might have been put that exempted you from the obligation to allow unarmed, defenseless, helpless passengers and crew to escape before you sunk the ship on which they were traveling. The United States asks of you now nothing that is not honorable in it to demand, and honorable and just in you to grant, when it requests you in courteous language to promise that you will hereafter act in compliance with the treaties you have agreed to and from which you have never officially recalled your agreement, and will hereafter conduct your submarine warfare in accordance with the law of nations which prohibits the killing of noncombatants.

The President's second note is like the first, a solemn declaration of the rights of humanity, maintaining with dignity and force the unassailable doctrine that these rights must take precedence of the necessities of belligerents.

It is because of this attitude of President Wilson that ex-Secretary Bryan deserted his post. He pleads in justification of this act of treachery and ingratitude that his conscientious scruples impelled him to the deed of shame. The assumption that he possesses conscientious scruples which conflict with his personal aspirations or his personal greed will bring a grin of incredulity to the faces of those who know him best.

He certainly does not lack the courage of his conviction, for he has taken upon himself a responsibility such as no public man in America has, since the Civil War, had the immoral courage or the obliquity of vision to assume. He has without warrant assumed that the American people will follow in abjuring the patriotic motto of "my country right or wrong," and will favor a policy of truckling and abjectness, and abandonment of noble principle in dealing with foreign nations. He is mistaken—as mistaken as the Tories in the revolution were when they defended the stamp tax; as mistaken as Benedict Arnold was when he tried to surrender West Point; as mistaken as the Copperheads were when in 1864 they advocated withdrawal of our armies and recognition of the Confederacy.

The American people today, after reading Mr. Bryan's appeal to them and the President's second note to Germany, must look upon the ex-Secretary with derision. In heaven's name, what word is there in his own note to which, judged by Bryan's own standards, he can fairly and honestly take exception? Is it not "progressive," Mr. Bryan? Is it not an invocation of peace, rather than war? Can you discover in it, Mr. Bryan, any paragraph concealing a bomb, any section wherein the sword is unsheathed? It is just such a document as you yourself advocate, Mr. Bryan, and your rejection of it proves your insincerity, Mr. Bryan.

Yes, Mr. Bryan has, by his resignation and the reasons he has given for it, more than justified the suspicion that he is an egotistical, self-seeking demagogue.

QUEER BANKING.

Oklahoma banks have queer ways of doing business. A bank in that State received a stock of shoes as a special deposit and stored them in the back end of the bank building, guaranteeing to deliver them to the proper party on compliance with certain conditions.

The bank did not have a pawnbroker's license. Receiving special deposits is incident to the banking business, but the court doubted whether their right to do so could be extended to cover contracts for bailments such as a special deposit of shoes.

One can imagine the reception that a Los Angeles banker would give to a customer who asked that his note be discounted and proposed to pile up a hundred sacks of beans in the cashier's office as security.

A CLEAR MIRROR.

When Shall We Three Meet Again?

THE ADMINISTRATION BOOT.

"California ran the first two years under Gov. Johnson without civil service rules. The efficient employees were retained and the inefficient kicked out. Under this law the efficient will remain and the inefficient will be kicked out." This is the argument advanced by Jack Neylan, chairman of the State Board of Control, in support of his measure repealing most of the present civil service law.

During the course of his argument Mr. Neylan made another characteristic statement: "I am in favor of civil service, but—" and his restrictions amounted to the assertion that merit tests should be applied to the selection of State employees and arbitrary dismissal should be inhibited when a Republican or a Democrat is at the head of an office—in that of the Secretary of State, for instance—but when an upright and honorable "Progressive" is in command, then full power of appointment and dismissal should not be denied him.

In this argument, however, Mr. Neylan found himself "progressive" all alone; no other department head and no civic association in the State came to his support. Even the Progressive papers to which he had sent a signed statement soliciting editorial support failed to come through. Opposed to him were representatives of the municipal civil service commissions of San Francisco, Oakland and Los Angeles, the head of the State Civil Service Board and representatives of a number of public welfare associations in the State.

During the last four years Neylan has disposed of more jobs than any other man in California. He has been given practically a carte blanche by Gov. Johnson; his trail leads through every State institution. He was the gullotine of the administration. Every man was inefficient whose political affiliations had connected him with the old regime. Judgments of efficiency were formed without granting a hearing to the accused. A new man was placed in charge of a department and within a week's time half the office force was removed. Yet this department head often knew practically nothing about the workings of the office over which he was placed; it was absolutely impossible for him to know or judge the mental attainments and capabilities of the men who were dismissed. In fact, it is a matter of common knowledge that the men who were dismissed were checked as "unfavorable" in a card index system which was inaugurated by the old Lincoln-Roosevelt League, and that the men who took their places had earned their spurs by their valiant service in the political campaign which had just closed.

Civil service has become recognized as a remedy for that form of political hydrophobia in which the victim froths at the mouth whenever he sees a man on the payroll who doesn't wear the party button. Since the abatement of that 1911 hysteria many are beginning to realize what took place in that Night of St. Bartholomew when the "inefficient" were kicked out, and when the test of efficiency was how the victim voted in the last general election. Scores of instances have been cited where in the victim was so "inefficient" that two men were required to take his place. It is a matter of State record that the annual payroll is about $2,000,000 greater than it was before that kicking out occurred.

That there were scores of men holding office in 1911 as a reward for political service is freely admitted; but the rank injustice was that there were wholesale dismissals without even a pretense of giving just cause. When the massacre was ended, civil service was introduced for the avowed purpose of preventing another wholesale dismissal in case one of the old parties came back. But a new combination has arisen in State politics: there are northern Progressives and southern Progressives. In many State offices today are employees who are favoring Wallace for Senator. These cannot be disciplined because civil service intervenes. In the opinion of Mr. Neylan, the time for another "kicking out" has arrived. A way is provided for this by the Gerdes bill, which repeals the present law prohibiting arbitrary dismissals. Gov. Johnson acquiesced in the passage of that bill in his present form, and if he signs it he is well aware that his political proteges are all beyond the reach of the administration boot. But such a storm of protest has arisen from the friends of good government that the fate of the bill still hangs in the balance.

HOPE FOR POETS.

The American people are turning more to poetry, the magazines are buying far more verse than they did ten years ago, are paying better prices and publishing better stuff; books of good verses are more in demand and the demand is better supplied. This statement, made by Miss May Masses, chief librarian in Chicago, has both its encouraging and discouraging features.

Everyone will rejoice to hear that Chicago is developing a taste for poetry, especially if, as Miss Masses also asserts, the people have grown more discriminating and only poetry with a message, not mere rhyme without reason, can get a hearing. Great audiences begot good artists, but unfortunately they also add to the number of near-artists, some not very near at that. These are the hardest to convince of their limitations and the quickest to catch at straws. Of all sad spectacles the saddest is that of the would-be artist who can never arrive.

Yet it is refreshing to be assured that when another Edgar Allan Poe is born into the world he will not be condemned to the cruel persecution that cut short the career of America's greatest poet, perhaps the most wonderful word artist the world has ever known. When such another star arises above the literary horizon his birthplace will be found not far from Los Angeles in this land of inspiration and romance. The birth of poetic taste in Chicago is significant. What may it not presage for Southern California, whose very atmosphere is full of song and music?

SIO TRANSIT.

We are told that the passing of the steam engine is surely at hand. The electrification of the New York Central is but the beginning of a revolution that is bound to spread to every railroad system in the country.

As the aeroplane and airship advance, the automobile will be the next to recede. The passing of terrestrial locomotion is being prepared as a leading feature in the programme of the future.

Submarine merchantmen and freighters are already being discussed. By and by navigation on the surface of the ocean will pass away. Man is crazy to get off the face of the globe, either under the water or up in the air.

Then no doubt some new subtle force drawn directly from the atmosphere will replace electricity; the passing of the dynamo will be a phase in future progress. And when everything else that can be induced to pass away has been eliminated, only man will remain; he, too, in the fulfillment of the divine event will follow the flame, the steam engine, the automobile, the dynamo, the aeroplane, the radio-activity into the mighty vast of dreams and spirits. There will be nothing left for him to do.

W. hurriedly accepts, bidding him stop-speed on parting—meaning if he is going he can not go too fast; at the same time giving a loving word kick in the nether world last phrase of his letter of acceptance. Exit W. J. B., promising to tell the country just what is the matter with it in the next few days. Enter Uncle Sam, just as he is going. U. S. in joyful mood, says, "I knew that if we gave him a chance he would some day put up a country a great service. Now that he has we will proceed with our business uninterrupted."

RIPLING RHYMES.

THE POOR TOWN.

You say that things are on the blink at Plunktown-by-the-Dump; there's no chance there for any gink, no odds how he may hump. The town has moss all up its back, it isn't up-to-date, its outlook's poor its trade is slack, you think you'll pull your freight. I've met some bright and bustling lads from Plunktown, now and then, they say it is the best of grade for active, hustling men. They say you'll find the finest jail, the largest village pump, the longest list of men with tails, at Plunktown-by-the-Dump. The Plunktown climate's no so taint, so goes their joyous song; this Plunktown boys are fresh as paint, the Plunktown boys are strong. If you would join that bustling band, and shoot your crock away, you soon would have a better punch, now put up far more hay. For when a fellow blames his town because he doesn't shine, the tired onlookers let him down as one who lacks a spine. There never was a town so bum it would refuse a prize to one who tries to make things hum, with order in his eyes. There never was a town so fine that it would give all good to one who springs an endless whine, while others saw their wood.

Some of the stubbornness of Wilson exhibited when at Princeton University is in evidence. Differences with his former State. In the present instance, people behind him.

Eastern Republican statesmen to California equipped with a boom are encroaching upon the preserves of Gov. Johnson, who not fully determined on what will run next year.

The record shows that Bryan as a sort of messenger for Wilson; that he never stood up of premier of the administration; Chief Executive of the United States gets a real Secretary of State.

What is worrying the Democrats much more than the possible may come to the party through the election of Bryan, is the coalition of Hicans and Bull Moores that are as sure as the stars.

The duties of the Department require a special training for performance, and so it is the retirement of Mr. Bryan. He and delicate tasks are being put on the men that President Wilson has seen, Messrs. Lansing, Phillips and so on.

It is announced that the President's Squadron has spent $100,000 in September in the interest of movement. If prohibitionists will pay the $245,000,000, one-third of the whole Federal year, now paid to the laboring the customhouses on import duty gap to be filled?

It would be the part of Americans going abroad to be merchant vessels. Germany's right to destroy British vessels because they are carrying war. We would have no objection to travel on any such body to no matter what the matter whether the vessel is not.

THE GREAT HALL.

My soul was sick, my heart was sore. I couldn't stand a great deal more. My troubles all that great hall. Had well-nigh driven me to the wall. No whit of progress made. And I was filled with pain and woe.

One said to me, "There is a way. Who, if no other person can, will bring your sorrows to the day. Go, ask his help, my son, and you'll find the answer to your prayer. Whereat I thanked him for his care. And sought this man of God."

I found him grimed from head to toe. How could such skill be so low? Yet when he'd heard my story through. He said, "Come back to me. I'll have all right for you."

"And when you run, my son, and keep your oil lamp lit. Go into court when you are lit. A nasty fellow in a suit. Now I am glad, my son, because my son's sake."

School Laws may be revised as Result.

In losing her test suit to compel Superintendent Koppel to comply her demand for a month's salary, Miss Jessie L. Saunders, a teacher in the primary grade of the Santa Ana schools, wins a higher salary.

The decision handed down by Judge Smith yesterday is exhaustive. In effect, it holds that teachers of the primary grade are entitled under the 1887 of the Political Code to receive the same salary as the assistant teachers, or, grammar grades, the latter in the eighth grade and pay the highest salary. The plea has been that teachers with a university training or those having eight years' training had a better training than others.

The effect of this decision will be to raise the salary of every teacher in the State working under similar conditions, where special teachers are employed. This case was on all four grammar grades.

Between the lines of the decision it is evident that the school board of the State are back numbers. The powers given boards of education to employ these special teachers are null and void. The law is revised and they do not fit the modern development of the schools, especially the higher studies.

As contrasted with the principals of schools they were not legally contemplated assistant teachers. HAVE DIFFICULT TIME GETTING MARRIED IN SANTA BARBARA.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

SANTA BARBARA, June 10.—Mrs. Clara Reed Akley and Dr. William H. C. Smith of Long Beach were married at the Potter Hotel at 8 o'clock this evening by Rev. Warren D. More, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian Church. The couple arrived from Long Beach by motor.

For a time it seemed as though their nuptial arrangements might go glimmering. In the absence of Dr. Charles E. Desel, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church, the couple sought Dean Weid, rector of All Saints-by-the-Sea, exclusive Montecito's Episcopal Church.

"I refuse to marry any couple on two hours' notice, and at a hotel, particularly when they are utter strangers," was the rector's reply to the appeal to solemnize the marriage with the full Episcopal ceremonial.

Nothing daunted, the Long Beach couple appealed to other ministers here and one after another was found absent. They finally were successful in getting in touch with Dr. More. As Dr. More knew the circumstances surrounding the romance, he consented to preside.

Bride and groom were showered with congratulations by a score of Potter guests after the ceremony.

MOUNTAIN-TOP WATCH TOWER.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

ONTARIO, June 10.—In a little glass-sided tower, perched on the crest of Little Baldy, 7000 feet above sea level, which he asserts commands the finest view in California, E. R. Cook, in the employ of the government, yesterday began his duties as official fire lookout for this section of the Angeles forest reserve.

The tower, which was built by the government at a cost of $2500, stands about half a mile from San Antonio and San Dimas canyons, and commands a view of the range for miles in either direction. It is connected with the Ontario-Pland telephone exchange, making it possible for the watcher to sound the alarm the minute a blaze is sighted. He is provided with a powerful field glass and is constantly on the lookout.

In talking over the telephone with parties in Ontario this morning, Cook declared that he could easily distinguish the smoke of vessels on the ocean in the vicinity of Los Angeles harbor and Catalina Island, and is able to view the valley as far east as San Bernardino and Redlands. He declared that the maximum temperature registered yesterday at his watch tower was 68 deg., 23 deg. lower than that of the valley.

Cook, who is an old bachelor, keeps house in his tower. His provisions are all taken to him on burro back. He extends a cordial invitation to all to visit him on his high perch.

Newport Beach to Consider Seventeen Sets of Drawings to Withstand Winter Storms.

NEWPORT BEACH, June 10.—Seventeen sets of plans, prepared by the Board of Trustees of Newport Beach, and designed for the purpose of protecting the water front from the winter storms, will be examined by the Board of Trustees of Newport Beach next Monday night at 8 o'clock.

The meeting will be held in the auditorium of the grammar school and property owners have been requested to attend to offer suggestions.

The engineers will be at the meeting and will explain the merits of their particular plans with the aid of stereoscopic pictures. The fourteen systems are made up of variation of four plans, the honeycomb protection, the tray system and wooden and reinforced bulkheads.

So much damage has been inflicted during the past winter by the storms and high tides that it has been considered absolutely necessary to install some form of protection before next winter. The Board of Trustees of Newport Beach will meet next Monday night at 8 o'clock at the First National Bank, and the danger is increased with each successive storm.

PROMOTER OF TOURIST TRAVEL PASSES AWAY.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

MONROVIA, June 10.—Col. R. M. Baker, pioneer banker and financier of this city, and one of the best-known business men in Southern California, died at his home on West Hillcrest street this morning, at the age of 80. He leaves his widow, Mrs. Sarah A. Baker, and four children, W. J. Baker, of Los Angeles, Mrs. Charles M. Price, of Los Angeles, Mrs. May Hensfield, and Mrs. S. A. Cook of this city.

Mrs. Baker is seriously ill, and Col. Baker's only brother, Elijah, is not expected to live at his home in Muscatine, Iowa. His condition was so serious this morning when the news of R. M. Baker's death was received that the doctors refused to allow the message to be delivered.

Col. Baker was born in Virginia in 1834, but moved to Iowa in '66, where he assumed the nucleus of the fortune that in later years passed the million mark. In the early '80's he took up excursion work in connection with tourist and home-seekers' trips to Southern California, and in 1888 he moved to Los Angeles. Later he came to Monrovia, and passed the last few years of his life here or in San Bernardino, where he had extensive business interests.

Mr. Baker was well known as a banker, being the first president of the Central Bank of Los Angeles, now the Bank of Italy. He was also on the directorate of the First National and Monrovia Savings of this city.

Among his property was valuable business buildings on Main, Broadway, Spring, Temple and Hill streets, Los Angeles. Much of his fortune was given away in bequests during the past three years, however, as he realized the end was coming.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Baker, the funeral services will be private. The body will lie in state Saturday morning at the Renaker chapel from 10 to 12 o'clock. Interment will be in Live Oak cemetery.

POMONA SPLIT BY PAVING JOB.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

POMONA, June 10.—With the resignation of City Engineer Clarence Bayley in the hands of the City Clerk, one faction of a street-paving dispute insisting that the grade established by ordinance be raised fourteen inches, and another declaring that if the grade is moved the fractional part of an inch there will be a fight to a finish in the courts, Mayor Vandegrift sits uneasily on his pillow these nights, and the city fathers scratch their heads over the question of what to do.

And It's All About How to Drain Off Water.

Courts may Decide Issue for Property Owners.

At the time R. F. Norcross and a couple of other residents of Pomona, who are enthusiastic makers of Redondo Beach for the first of the huge barbeque pits which will be used in the huge Catholic barbeque of Sunday, June 13, at Redondo Beach, were in the city, they expressed the belief that it might be wise to raise the grade by passing an ordinance to re-establish the grade, in order to keep peace with the property owners.

Today the Mayor was informed by a wealthy resident who owns a big orange grove facing on Holt avenue that Mr. Norcross does not represent all of the interested property owners, even if it does represent some. Nothing but the orange grove owner will go into the courts, apply for an injunction to prevent the change of grade and start the thing.

SUIT AGAINST PASADENA MAN.

[LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.]

FRESNO, June 10.—A suit was filed today in the Fresno Superior Court by E. E. Overstreet, a cattleman of St. Louis, against Huestet C. Merritt, a Pasadena millionaire, for $114,667. Overstreet alleges that Merritt represented to him that if they would import cattle from Mexico to the Tagus ranch, owned by Merritt, and sell the cattle throughout the West, a fortune could be made.

Overstreet said that before coming to California he was engaged in the business of buying and selling cattle throughout the States of Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri, and had a business worth $100,000 from which he received an income of $20,000 a year. He alleges that Merritt, who is worth $17,000,000, came to him and offered him one-third partnership business if he would come West and take complete charge with a salary of $2000 with an advance of $4000 at the start.

He alleges that Merritt has failed to make good any part of the contract, and he sues for $114,667, one-third of the contract. The suit is one of the largest damage suits ever filed in Fresno county.

ALLEGED PARTNER DEMANDS SETTLEMENT ON BASIS OF AGREEMENT.

[BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH.]

FRESNO, June 10.—A suit was filed today in the Fresno Superior Court by E. E. Overstreet, a cattleman of St. Louis, against Huestet C. Merritt, a Pasadena millionaire, for $114,667. ## ANGELS GET EVEN WITH DOC TIGERS AT LAST.

SLIM BEATS TIGER BUNCH.

Holds His Opponents to Trio of Bingles.

Also Aids His Own Cause by Making a Triple.

Angels Make Cack Have One Bad Inning.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

By rights this story should be written around Slim Love, he being the only pitcher to win a game for the Angels in a good many days. But to write the story around Slim would make it entirely too long, so we will inject Cack Henley into the narrative, and in that shorten it by a couple of inches.

Cack is taller than the average guy, yet when tied up to the wharf alongside of Slim he looks like a mere runt. Not only did Slim pry the Angels out of the clutches of despair, but he skunked the Tigers by way of evening up an old grudge handed down from Wednesday when Pa's athletes were goose-necked.

THE DIFFERENCE. Slim's pitching was a credit to the profession. He allowed three hits, none of which were scattered. All of them, a triple and two singles, happened in one inning, and yet the Tigers could not score.

Cack was almost as good. He was touched for four hits. Three of these, two singles and a triple, also happened in one inning, and stood for three runs.

Very strange, isn't it? One bunch of guys gets three hits and can't score and the other bunch of guys get three of the same kind of hits and make three runs.

That doesn't sound reasonable, but it happened all right. If you don't think we are telling the truth ask some other bloke who attended the game.

It is these seeming phenomena, the over-turning of accepted theories and continual spilling of the dope that gives baseball one of its chief charms, and causes the love of the sport to become so deeply rooted in the hearts of so many American guys.

SANITARY. While Cack hasn't been quite the same brackler that he was before he pitched that one-hit game last week, his work was sanitary outside of the fourth and fifth. In the fourth he was located for a single which was genuine, but he let him. Then in the fifth he was hit for three runs. Outside of those innings he was positively hit proof. In addition to these things he had admirable control of the ball and did not issue any passes. He also fanned quite a few.

Slim himself played a prominent role in the deciding rally. In fact, for the moment, Slim became one of our most prominent batters. He scored a runner with a triple in the fifth, and then came home himself on an infield out. Slim's hit was really a home run, but he had to hustle to get as far as third. There are a lot of guys with only one leg who can run faster than Slim.

That hit simply goes to show what Slim can really do when he makes up his mind.

ONE SPOT.

There was fine fielding all over the place with the exception of one spot. That is out where Hettling works. Hettling was having some trouble with his throwing. Four times he tried to throw the ball to first base, but only once did he succeed in getting it all the way there.

While this is probably a record, the three low leaves had no bearing on the result. Gus picked out the best time imaginable for making his bum throw.

He made his only successful throw in the first. It was on a grounder by Beatty. His arm then began to slump and he made a low leave on Wolter, the next man up. In the sixth he took hold of a grounder from Zeb and threw low. Then in the seventh he made the same kind of a leave on a grounder by Boies. Whether or not Gus had any more low leaves in reserve is not known, as they wouldn't let him handle the ball any more.

ANOTHER CASE.

Hettling's arm is causing Doc considerable concern. He already has a number of foot and leg cases under treatment, but this is his first arm case. Outwardly the arm looks human and appears to be firmly attached.

DOC HAS YET TO BE CANNED.

Doc White, manager of the Venice Tigers, has never been tired out of a ball game.

He has yet to experience the sensations that go with being "canned." That is some record for a man who has been actively engaged in professional baseball for fifteen years.

However, it would not be surprising to see this long and honorable record marred at any time now. Hettling, Doc has put in all his time pitching, and pitcher as a rule does not have much to say to the ump.

Now that he is a manager he is sure to get into a jam with the arbiters sooner or later. Who of the Coast League umpires will be the first to "can" Doc? It will be worth seeing.

WOLVERTON IS INJURED.

(BY DIRECT WIRE—EXCLUSIVE DISPATCH)

SAN FRANCISCO, June 10.—Harry Wolverton, manager of the San Francisco baseball club, was seriously injured in an automobile accident at Page and Divisadero streets tonight.

Wolverton and his wife planned to take some friends for a ride in a new automobile just purchased a week ago, and after going from their residence on Scott street stopped on the Page-street hill.

The brakes did not work and Wolverton went in front of his machine to see what the trouble was. In some unexplained manner the machine started down the hill and Wolverton was caught under the car and run over. Mrs. Wolverton had luckily alighted from the car, but stood by helpless. The car ran down the hill into a pole and was smashed.

Physicians saw at once that Wolverton was seriously injured and had the man removed to St. Luke's Hospital. The well-known baseball leader sustained a fractured collarbone, possible internal injuries, besides severe lacerations. The doctors pronounced his condition as serious.

The various drivers had planned trial spins for today to learn the angles of the turns by practice spins around the course. The track was too slippery from an all-day rain. The drivers inspected the course and found it in first-class shape.

Class to Entries.

TENNIS DOUBLES TOURNEY THREATENS TO BE PEACH.

THE Pacific Coast tennis doubles tournament threatens to be a peach. This affair will be pulled off at Long Beach during the first week in July. The Hotel Virginia courts have been selected for the big event.

This doubles tournament is sure to be one of the best tennis exhibitions in this part of the country. In the past this event has attracted a large list of excellent players and the rivalry between the two delegations will be emphasized and the way the entries stand now, the south has it.

The excitement this year is way above past. The entries are more than ever; more players are down on the lists and faster matches are sure to be the result. The competition should be greater than at any previous time.

GLASSY ENTRIES. A large number of classy teams have been entered and some of the best players in the country will be on the slate. Perhaps the swiftest pair of all from the south is Nat Browne and Claude Wayne. These champs are picked by many to have the fastest chance of taking the honors. They are both experienced doubles players and are more or less familiar with each other's style of playing. They will be the head of the list, but they will have some tough competition. At any rate they will amuse the crowd with a hot variety of tennis competition or not.

Mr. Bob Varie and Mr. Adams are to compose another of the headline teams if everything runs off according to schedule. These two have not absolutely decided to pair off, but there is a good chance of the pair getting together. If they do, they will occupy a large bunk of the tennis limelight.

Walter Bowers and Earl Shock are to dish up an exhibition of the tennis sport that should place them right up among the leaders. This couple has been practicing for some time and when it comes to team work no one can step up within yelling distance. And team work cuts several centimeters of ice in any sort of doubles affair.

Dawson and Hord have been picked on as a suitable duo and they maneuver to provide excitement and com-dition and a whole lot else.

Many other local experts are to show up on the fatal day and at least thirty aggregations will fight for the honors.

San Francisco is to send four teams to have a try for the first place. Johnny Strachan and William Johnson are the only names announced, but some more awful good players are sure to hit town before the green grass lag begins. The rivalry between the two delegations will be emphasized and the way the entries stand now, the south has it.

BERGER COMES NEAR RECORD.

Joe Berger came within an eyelash yesterday of tying a world record, when he went through the entire nine innings with but one chance—a putout.

This time the league record made by himself in the second game of a double-header on April 24, when he had only one chance, an assist on a relay from the outfield. On that day Joe went through both games with but three chances. He had an assist and a putout in the first one, and handled only one ground ball in both of them.

Yesterday he did not touch a ground ball. That was because there were none hit in his direction. His one chance was a fly ball from Rube Ellis's bat in the fourth, which he assisted with ease.

George McBride of the Washington club went through a game on June 3, 1912, without a chance of any kind. This gave him the championship, which he still holds.

"THE HUSTLING BALL CLUB IS THE PENNANT WINNER"—WHITE.

"I NEVER yet saw a hustling ball team that was out of the race entirely and I also never saw a pennant winner that wasn't full of hustling ball players. It works both ways."

Thus spoke "Doc" White, new manager of the Tigers, after a short siege of meditation.

"I made up my mind that the first essential of a winner was pep and that's what I've been after ever since I took hold."

"They talk about some ball clubs getting the breaks. It is the club that hustles that gets the breaks, because when they come the hustling club is ready for them."

"Why, that is why Ty Cobb is such a wonder. He makes the breaks come his way. Everybody knows when he gets to bat that the slightest breeze will enable him to beat the play to first or wherever it may be. The result is nervousness and over-anxiety and resulting fumbling or mishandling of the ball."

"When Ty singles directly to the centerfielder, he is a third of the way to second base before the fielder gets his hands on the ball. Cobb is ready to take advantage of the slightest slip on the part of the fielder to reach second and it is this everlasting business of hustling that makes him the star he is."

"We really haven't had a fair chance as yet. I'd like to see some of the other clubs in the league with four pitchers on the hospital list."

"Why, do you know that we can pass the Angels by winning all the rest of the games in this series? Just give us a couple of months and a chance to get our regular lineup back in the game and we will show some of these teams something good in the way of speed."
